WORKSHOP

ANTIMICROBIAL RESISTANCE: MOVING FROM TALK TO ACTION

TUESDAY 17 OCTOBER 2017 16:30 - 18:00
ROOM 2 AMERICA

This workshop will explore how to move the global discourse on combatting antimicrobial resistance (AMR) from a theoretical debate to practical solutions at the regional and national levels. Speakers will be invited to express their views on the following questions:

- What is industry currently doing to combat AMR and where can it most make a difference?
- What are some of the best practice examples of governments' programs to combat AMR?
- How could the industry and governments better collaborate to find practical solutions?
- What is needed at the country level to facilitate the piloting of new approaches to combat AMR? What would be the characteristics?
